BRAINS AND HAIR ON LOADED STICK

May Have Been Used by Murderers of Claude Bass.

Found Concealed in Room in the New Richmond Hotel and Given to Police.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

Covered with blood and brains, loaded stick was found wrapped in a quilt in a drawer of the bureau in room 36 at the New Richmond house It has been turned over to the po lice who think it undoubtedly was used in murdering Claude Bass, who was found on North Sixth street last Wednesday morning with his skull

The stick was found last night at 10 o'clock by two guests of the New Richmond house, a man and his wife. Colonel Dale, owner of the New Richmond, assigned them to room 36, which is one of the best rooms. The cool spell was directly responsible for finding the weapon. In the night the man got up to get a quitt as it was cool with the light summer covering on the bed. He opened a drawer in the bureau, took out a quilt and began to unfold it. The stick then fell The only clew is a bloody thumb-

Realizing that he had uncovered a weapon used in some crime he immediately notified Colonel Dale, who James Moore. The police say Moore's comprehended in a moment that he wife is living. He was arrested on street contracts. There are eight allhad discovered a valuable clew for the suspicion. Moore claimed he found police have selected one of the occupants as the person who secreted the stick in the bureau drawer. If the one they think committed the crime, or assisted in committing the crime, is the right man, he stayed in Paducah several days after the atrocious marder. It was hot weather when the crime was committed and for four days afterward. The murderer nata quilt it would be many days and coldest August day for fifteen years. urally might suppose that wrapped in possibly several weeks before more cover would be needed on the bed. So he placed it where it was found But before he secreted it he tried scrape some of the tell-tale evidence of human blood and brains which covered the stick. He did not suc ceed in that completely.

There is a side line of theory possible in speculating on the presence of the stick in the bureau drawer. The nature of the stick would indicate that no novice did the work. The stick could have been hid in the bureau drawer of this room as a blind to mislead the police, casting suspicion on an innocent man. Report Circulated That President McBroom Offered His Seat in Council Board.

NO SOLUTION TO DIFFICULTY

Efforts to settle the break the deadlock in the school board over the election of Miss Emma Morgan to the position of English teacher, so far have proven unavailing, and the indications are that nothing will be accomplished at the meeting tonight, as the deadlock over this one position seems to interfere with the performance of all the other duties of the board. Propositions to leave the settlement of the deadlock, in turn to the board of police and fire commissioners, various city officials and finally to all the former school trustees in the city have met with objection.

The latest report is that President McBroom, of the board of councilmen, intended to resign his position, which was tendered to School Trustee Henry Gallman, who, of course in that event would have to resign from the school board. Mr. Gallman voted to adopt the report of the committee, and his resignation would leave the board standing six to five in favor of electing Miss Morgan to the position in the English department. He refused to make the change and the matter has been dropped.

It is well-known that President McBroom does not intend to be a candidate for re-election to the board of councilmen, but just how he could Sayre, Okla., Aug. 28 .- The first give up his place to Henry Gallman Yeiser has the appointive power and couse, if any other Republican councilman should resion.

Concerning the episode President McBroom said:

"I do not intend to be a candidate to succeed myself, but what passed between Mr. Gallman and myself was confidential. He will not resign from the school board, though, He told me that flatly."

Mr. Gallman's Statement.

"Last Friday at noon Mr. McBroom came to me and told me if I would accept his place he would resign from the board of councilmen, as he does not intend to run again. We both live in the First ward. GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Ollie James and John Wesley Gaines, champions of trust-busting in the house, should certainly find much satisfaction in the trust-busting campaign which, thanks in part at least to their efforts, is now being carried on by the government. The summer season is a bit slack for such work, but September, which brings the federal courts into regular session, will see a renewal of activities along all lines. Attorney General Moody, after a long rest, will soon be back at his desk to stay, and his coming will be the signal for a forward movement. Many of the pending cases will come up for trial in the early fall, indictments against alleged offenders will be sought in severa; judicial districts, and the government's force of investigators will continue its search for evidence. Indeed, Mr. Moody's chance for fame depends largely on the anti-bad-trust campaign, with its numerous ramifications stretching into many fields. The department of justice hopes to bring the action against the tobacco trust to a final issue this fall or winter. The Standard Oil, from which a great fight N. Whitley, of Springfield, Ill. is expected, will also receive its share of attention. In Florida, the Wholesale Grocers' association is to have a look at the big stick; the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis is on the rack to be shown in Missouri; the fight against the National Retail Druggists' association will continue at Indianapolis; the federal grand jury in Tennessee has returned indictments against an alleged fertilizer trust; proceedings against the Virginla-Carolina Chemical company are pending in southern courts, and over in Hawaii the government is after an alleged lumber trust. Altogether the coming winter promises troublous times for trusts of all kinds. House Humorist, Robert S. Robertson, veteran soldier, Civil war officer, leading lawyer, historian and a man foremos in the ranks of citizenship, died shortly before midnight, August 24, after an illness of several weeks, at Fort Wayne, Ind.

The direct cause of death was liver trouble, although Colonel Robertson had suffered from a complication of ailments for several months.

New York. He was born at North Argyle April 16, 1839. He came from distinguished lineage. His grandfather, Robert Robertson, was born in Scotland in 1756 and came from Kinrossshire in the latter part of the eighteenth century and settled Washington county, New York. His son, Nicholas Robertson, the father of Col. Robertson, was born in North Argyle May 12, 1803, and was for many years a justice of the peace and postmaster in the New York town.

He was an officer in the Civil war and won several promotions for gallantry. He was wounded.

During the two years following the war, Col. Robertson engaged in the practice of law at Washington, D. C.

While living there he was married on July 19, 1865, at Whitehall, N. Y., to Elizabeth H. Miller, whose grandfather, Alexander Robertson, came to America from Blair Athol, Scotland, in 1804. Five children were born to the union, all of whom are living. They are N. A. Robertson, of Eureka, Utah; Mrs. Filliam H. Shambaugh, of Wort Wayne; R. S. Robertson, of Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. E. F. Lloyd, of Detrott, and Mrs. W.

The residence of Col. Robertson in ity and devotion to the cause of the Republican party at once made him prominent and in 1867 he was elected city attorney for two years. In 1868 he was nominated for state ored, sleeping in box car, $5 senator.

In 1871 he was appointed regtster in bankruptcy and United States colored, Ed Sears, Charlie King, white commissioner. The former office he petty larceny, dismissed; Ed Sears, J. resigned in 1875 and the other in 1876. When the Republican state convention met in 1876 he was nominated, entirely without his seeking. for the office of lieutenant governor.

In 1886, a vacancy having been created in the office of Heutenan; governor by the resignation of Gen. J. Adam Bode, of Minnesota, the M. D. Manson, both the Republican and Democratic parties nominated candidates for the office and after a memorable campaign Col. Robertson was elected.

Tim Nalligan testified in police ourt this morning that he placed a ladder to the window of the lodging house of Mrs. Lou Hamilton on Elizabeth street crept into the window in the dead of night, went to a trunk used jointly by himself and Mrs. Bertha Berger, secured $30, scattered the contents all over the floor to make it appear like the work of a burglar. He even went so far as to take a hammer and bend the lock on the trunk. He claimed that it was his money and that he feared Mrs. Berger might get mad, take his money and go to another man. In order to humor and try to get her to remain, he testified that he had adopted this ruse, not wanting to let her know he took the money. They all live with Mrs. Lou Hamilton

Nalligan is a night watchman on the river and claimed he often gave Mrs. Berger money to keep for him. She is a daughter of Mrs. Lou Hamilton, and Mrs. Hamiltons testimony favored the defendant. At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Pur year held Nalligan over to the grand ards will find sweet consolation the conclusion of a distinguished, though modest scientist of Hartford, Connecticut, whose name is Crother's, but whose timidity probably tempts him to withhold his name from the newspapers, that periodic sprees, are but the answer to a call of nature for an anesthetic for a disease of the brain. The dear doctor has studied the phenomena or the disease carefully and divides them into acute paroxysms, which send a man helter-skelter to the medicinal fountain of the bar, and a regniar periodic return of the malady, like malarla, with premonitory symptoms. The habitual drunkard, according to the doctor's theory, is one on whom the brain disease has New York will be Moses C. Wetmore, house-breaking; Fred Zimmerman, Bass left a suit case in his store. However, all this public discussion of the subject must be distasteful to the scientist, who made his investigation purely for the sake of humanity and with no idea that the newspapers would take it up.

CHAPTER XVIII.

By 3 o'clock the saloons and stores, which had closed at noon, opened their doors, and Antioch emerged from the shadow of its funeral gloom.

By 4 o'clock a long procession of carriages and wagons was rumbling out of town. Those who had come from a distance were going home, but many lingered in the hope that the excitement was not all past.

An hour later a rumor reached Antioch that Roger Oakley had been cap-tured. It spread about the streets like wildfire and penetrated to the stores and saloons. At first it was not be-

Just who was responsible for the ru no one knew, and no one cared. but soon the additional facts were be ting vouched for by a score of excited men that a search party from Bar-row's Sawmills, which had been trail-ing the fugitive for two days, had effected his capture after a desperate fight in the northern woods and were oringing him to Autioch for identification. It was generally understood that if the prisoner proved to be Roger Oak would be spared the uncertainty of a trial. The threat was made openly that he would be strong up to the first convenient lamp post. As Mr. Britt remarked to a customer from Harrison for whom he was mixing a cocktail:

"It'd be a pity to keep a man of his years waiting; and what's the use of spending thousands of dollars for a conviction anyhow when everybody knows he done it?"

At this juncture Jim Brown, the sheriff, and Joe Weaver, the town marshal, were seen to cross the square with an air of importance and preoccupation. It was noted casually that the right hand cont pocket of each sagged suggestively. They disappeared into Mc-Elroy's livery stable. Fifty men and boys rushed precipitately in pursuit asked as he took the reins from the were just in time to see the two flicers pass out at the back of the stable and jump into a light road cart and they were whirling off uptown.

All previous doubt vanished instant-It was agreed on all sides that they were probably acting on private information and had gone to bring in the prisoner. So strong was this conviction that a number of young men whose teams were hitched about the square promptly followed, and soon an anxcavalcade emptied itself into the dusty country road.

Just beyond the corporation line the Mr. Brown and his companion had takthe road which bore to the west and who were first to reach the forks could still see the road cart a black her arms about his neck,

"For God's sake, Milt, stay with the boys and me!" she ejaculated. "You don't know what may happen!" Outside they heard the trampling of many feet coming nearer and nearer. They listened breathlessly.

'Yes, I do, and they mustn't do it!" unclasping her hands. "Jim will be needing help." The sheriff was his wife's brother. "He's promised me he'd hang the old man himself or no

"Ain't you coming too? George's afraid." But his mother did not hear She was at the window closing the shutters. In the next yard she saw old Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Stapleton's mother, carrying her potted plants into the house and scolding in a shrill, querulous voice.

McClintock, pulling on his coat as he ran, hurried up the street past the little white frame Methodist church. The crowd had the start of him, and the town seemed deserted except for the women and children who were everywhere, at open doors and windows, some pallid and pitying, some ugly with the brutal excitement they had caught from brothers or husbands. As he passed the Emorys' he heard and saw the doctor standing on the porch with Mrs. Emory and Constance. "Will you go with me, McClintock?" the physician cried. At the same moment the boy drove his team to the door. McClintock took the fence at a bound and ran up the drive.

"There's no time to lose," he panted.
"But," with a sudden, sickening sense of helplessness, "I don't know that we can stop them."

"At least he will not be alone." It was Constance who spoke. She was thinking of Oakley as struggilng single handed to save his father from the howling, cursing rabble which bad rushed up the street ten minutes be Seen who? "Dan Oakley."

"He's on his way to Chicago. Went this morning."

"Thank God for that!" And he pulled in his horses to call back to Constance that Oakley had left Antioch. A look of instant relief came into her face. He turned again to McClintock.

"This is a bad business."
"Yes, we don't want no lynching, but it's lucky Oakley isn't here. I hadn't thought of what he'd do if he was."

"What a pity he ever sent for his fa-Just beyond the corporation line the ther! But who could have forescen North street, as it was called, forked. this?" said the doctor sadly. McClintock shook his head.

As they left the town off to the right The afternoon passed, and the dusk an racing after her two runaway sons, of evening came. Those of the towns-people who were still hanging about the square went home to supper. Un-reached their ears. The doctor shook out his reins and plied his whip.

"What if we are too late," he said. For answer McClintock swore. He was fearing that himself.

Two minutes later and they were up could General Cornish expect him black shadow buggy after buggy flashed to show in the red dusk that lay on the treeless hillside beyond. On the mob's either flank, but keeping well out of the reach of their elders, slunk and skulked the village urchins.

Looks as if all Antioch was here tonight," commented McClintock grimly "So much the better for us. Surely they are not all gone mad," answered the doctor

The doctor drove recklessly into the growd, which scattered to the right and

"The brutes!" muttered the doctor, and he turned helplessly to McClintock. "What are we going to do?

SISTER NOT HERE IS HIS OPINION > SAGE

The Rev. L. A. Summers Returns to Tennessee.

Searched All Hiding Places in Paducah With Patrolman Cross Yesterday.

ALL CLEWS PROVED FALSE.

The Rev. L. O. Summers, of Greenfield, Tenn., has returned to his home af ter a second fruitless search through the city for his missing sister. Miss Lacey Summers, of Jackson Tenn.

Rev. Summers learned that a young woman answering the description of his sister to an extent, registered on Tuesday night at the Crais hotel in Paducah under a different name and from Trenton, Tenn. He called yesterday on the proprietor of the hotel in company with Patrolman E. H. Cross, but after investigating, satisfied himself that it was not his sister, who had registered and spent the night at this hostelry. The young woman the next morning paid her bill and left.

The Rev. Mr. Summers was much broken up over his unsuccessful search, and returned home downcast. He said he would not take up the search again until he had something tangible to work on.

"We scoured the town yesterday, going every place where she might be hidden, and were unsuccessful," Pa trolman Cross said. "I was of the opinion that Miss Summers is not here, but the brother wanted to satisfy himself.

JOHN D. FOR THE SIMPLE LIFE.

Oil King Comes Out as Exponent of Less Strenuous Existence.

Cleveland, Aug. 28 .- John D. Rockefeller today came out as an exponent of the simple life. In a twenty-minute conversation with a newspaper correspondent he discussed a variety of topics, among them being newspapers and the mode of living, and joked about the heat. Although the morn ing was one of the hottest of the sea son, Mr. Rockefeller did not show any effects from the heat. Dally practice on his golf links has hardened him, and he can endure the sun as well as many many years his junior. He chatted freely with the reporter, delaying the Sunday school and detaining a room full of people waiting to shake his hand. 'This is really one of the warmest days of the year, isn't it?" he remarked. "I shall have to put more tubing on the upper end of my thermometer at Forest Hill. I suppose the heat of today will be reflected in the headlines of the papers on the morrow." and his smile broadened as he chuckled over his little joke. His conversation showed that he is familiar with the newspapers of New York. He inquired as to their standing, the personality of their editors and discussed their policies. He said that the rapid life the Americans are leading was reflected in the New

Whitesburg, Ky., August 28. essenger from the fend neighborhood of the Mullins and Flemings says there was a deadly feud battle between the factions yesterday at a picnic at the headwaters of Long Fork creek. It is said that two of the Mullins faction were killed outright and one fatally wounded, while the Flemings crowd suffered only by the wounding of the leaders, Sol and Henry Fleming. Witnesses say hundred shots were fired, and that both Sol and Henry Fleming received fatal wounds. Levi Mullins, the leader of the Mullins faction, was killed, as was his brother-in-law, William Osburn, and Ben Mullins was wounded. If the wounded die !! will doubtless break up the feud since there will be no leaders. The men are prominent farmers, owning large holdings of timber lands, atthough this is the first serious engagement in some time. The Fleming boys, it is alleged, were the leaders of the kuklux band that terrorzed Letcher county for many years

Murderer Tries Suicide.

Louisville, August 28 .- Jacob Bischoff, sentenced to hang for wife nurder, made another attempt and an almost successful one, to end his life in a cell at the Jefferson county jail this morning. He was found un conscious on the floor bleeding from his mouth and nose and from severe injuries about his head, sustained in butting his head against the steel walls of his cell. His previous attempt consisted of an effort Saturday night to burn himself to death. He was discovered by other prisoners in his cell, in which he ignited a portion of his bed-clothing
